

A scatter plot on a white background with a black border. It contains a large, dense, horizontally-oriented cluster of blue circular data points. The cluster is roughly centered in the upper half of the plot. There are several small, isolated blue points scattered around the main cluster. At the bottom right of the main cluster, there is a small group of three red circular data points.

